

Divorce

- Divorce is a straightforward process in Australia.
- There is no fault involved and you need to show that you have formed the intention that the marriage has broken down irretrievably and that you have been separated and living apart from each other for at least 12 months prior to filing the Divorce.
- The Divorce Application can be completed online through the FCFCOA website.
- We have also prepared a free practical guide to completing the Divorce Application and this can be found here link.
- Once you are divorced you are allowed to remarry and remember you only have 12 months after the divorce to file proceedings for property settlement and/or spousal maintenance.
